VATICAN CITY, Feb. 11—As thousands of mourners led by Crown Prince Humbert of Italy filed in sorrow past the crimson catafalque on which the white-clad body of Pope Pius XI lay in the Sistine chapel today, the history-hallowed machinery for selection of a new Pontifex Maximus was set into operation.

Thirty cardinals of the 62 who now form the sacred congregation met for the first time since Pope Pius died yesterday, and named a commission of three of their members to arrange details of the solemn conclave at which the 262nd occupant of the throne of St. Peter will be chosen, probably beginning Feb. 25 or 28.

The commissioners, all cardinal deacons and permanent residents of Rome who maintained close contact with the late Pope, are Cardinals Camillo Caccia-Dominiani, Nicola Canali, and Domenico Mariani.

Mgr. Arborio Mella De Sant' Elia, who was Pius's master of the chamber, was named governor of the conclave.

The congregation of cardinals then turned, under the chairmanship of Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, back to the dolorous task of laying to rest their late beloved Holy Father.

Masses To Pay Homage

At 4 p. m. in a state funeral procession, the body of Pius will be removed from the famous frescoed Sistine chapel to the vast spaces of St. Peter's church, there to lie in state and receive the homage of the masses.

The cardinals decided that nine days of funeral services would be initiated at 9 a. m. Sunday, but (Continued on Page Eight)

NORRIS ADMITS EMBEZZLEMENT, GOES TO PRISON

Roy Norris, 41, E. High street, former office manager for the Container Corporation of America, was sentenced Saturday to serve one to 10 years in the Ohio penitentiary.

The sentence was imposed by Judge Meeker Terwilliger after Norris pleaded guilty to an indictment charging embezzlement. He had denied the charge when arraigned in court on Sept. 30, 1938. The indictment was returned by the grand jury of the September, 1938, term of court.

Norris was charged with embezzlement of $2,645.72 in the period from Sept. 1, 1935 to May 4, 1938.

He was to be taken to the penitentiary Saturday.

MERCURY FALLS TO 17 DEGREES

Scioto In Lowland Area After Heavy Rains Of Two Days

Dr. H. R. Clarke, weatherman, said Saturday that at 1 p. m. the Scioto river had reached the 12 foot stage and was rising.

The temperature took a 35-degree slide Friday night when winter made a return trip to Circleville.

It reached a high of 52 degrees Friday afternoon then skidded to 17 during the night. Fair and cold weather was predicted for Saturday. Cloudy weather is forecast for Sunday.

The Scioto river was flooding the low bottom lands Saturday as a result of the heavy rains Thursday and Friday.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11—A 40-degree drop in temperature within 24 hours today left residents of the Columbus area shivering. The drop recorded at the airport weather bureau was from 57 degrees at 5 a. m. yesterday to 17 at 5 a. m. today.

Fair and slightly colder, with a low of about 15, was predicted for today by the airport bureau. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy with slowly rising temperatures. No precipitation is expected during the week-end.

MRS ELMER HAMPP DIES IN LANCASTER HOSPITAL

Mrs. Virgil Hampp, 30, wife of Elmer A. Hampp of Stoutsville, died Saturday in Lancaster hospital of complications which followed the caesarian birth of a son. The little boy, named Ned D., survives with his father and a sister, Ruth Ilene.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Stoutsville Evangelical church, the Rev. O. R. Swisher officiating. Burial will be in Maple Hill cemetery by Crites and Van Cleve. Friends may call at the Hampp home after noon Sunday.

Other survivors are Mrs. Hampp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Neff of Adelphi; two brothers, Joseph L. and Martin L. of Adelphi, and two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Greeno of Adelphi and Mrs. Ruth Minor of Kingston.

MILLIONS of Catholics throughout the world mourn the death of Pope Pius XI, shown in death in this photo from Rome. Pius was elevated to the highest office in the Roman Catholic church in February, 1922. He would have observed his 17th anniversary Feb. 12.

Circleville Catholics To Pay Tribute to Pope

Circleville Catholics will join with those throughout the world in paying tribute to the late Pope Pius XI.

The Rev. Father J. J. Herman, of St. Joseph's church, announced Saturday that the following message had been received from Bishop James J. Hartley of Columbus:

JURORS UNABLE TO AGREE AFTER PROBE OF FRAUD

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 11—Government prosecutor prepared today to ask for new trials at the earliest possible date of 11 defendants still charged with conspiracy to trade W.P.A. jobs for votes.

The trials were not expected to be held until some time in March.

Among the cases to be tried before the grand jury convened are those of 24 defendants charged in various indictments with diversion of W.P.A. labor and materials or with conspiracy to divert these.

A federal petit jury which reported yesterday disagreed as to guilt or innocence of Stanley W. P. Miller, son-in-law of United States Senator Dennis Chavez, and 10 others. They are the defendants for whom the government will seek new trials.

The suit alleges that last July 26 the justice of peace detained the plaintiff and ordered him committed to the county jail for 30 days and fined him $10 and costs on a "pretended" charge of permitting a minor to operate a motor vehicle without an operator's license. Leesburg was released on a habeas corpus action from Probate court.

The petition says that as a result of the alleged detention the plaintiff lost his employment in Columbus as an auto salesman.

JURORS TO HEAR $5,000 SUIT FOR FALSE ARREST

Common Pleas court jurors will report Monday to hear the $5,000 action of Ralph Leesburg, of Scioto township, against Dennis Kautz, Darby township justice of peace, and others, charging false imprisonment.

ARMY REVEALS MIGHTY PLANE OF HIGH SPEED

MARCH FIELD, RIVERSIDE, Calif., Feb. 11—America's answer to the race by European powers for unchallenged superiority in speed in the air was revealed today to be a new radically redesigned single seat fighter capable of flying more than 350 miles an hour.

The revelation was authorized by Major General H. H. Arnold, newly appointed chief of the army air corps and pilot of the program for an adequate American aviation force. To all of the actress refused to discuss her purported romance with Charles Martin, film scenario writer, but rumor was strong that she would wed Martin when she obtained her final decree from Tone.

In her complaint, Miss Crawford charged, Tone insisted that she go out with him socially when he knew that she was worn out from a hard day at the studio or had work to do.

Before her marriage to Tone, Miss Crawford was formerly the wife of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. She was divorced from Fairbanks in May, 1933 on the grounds that Fairbanks was jealous and suspicious.

she, she charged, Tone agreed. But he changed thereafter.

"Notwithstanding his agreement," the complaint alleged, "for more than a year he has objected to her activities and has been unreasonable in demands for time."

Many times, Miss Crawford charged, Tone insisted that she go out with him socially when he knew that she was worn out from a hard day at the studio or had work to do.

TIGERS LOSE ANOTHER THRILLING COURT GAME IN LAST FEW MINUTES

FAYETTE SQUAD DRIVES TO EDGE IN 21-18 JOUST

Tough Contest Finds Red And Black Losing Edge Ere Gun Cracks

Reserves Find Opponents Easy In 26 To 8 Preliminary

Circleville's varsity cagers must have been born under the wrong stars, or they don't pay the preacher, or they don't live right, or something! For the second time in a couple of weeks the Red and Black basket shooters have led a strong foe right up to the last couple of minutes of play only to lose their advantage before the final gun had cracked. The same thing happened at Hillsboro two weeks ago.

That was the story Friday evening as Washington C. H. gained a 21-18 victory in a thrilling game on the Fayette county seat armory court. The Red and Black held an 18-15 margin with about two minutes to play, but fell into an 18-all tie and then lost everything when Shoemaker, Washington's high scoring center, faked a Tiger defensive man out of position and scored a bucket to clinch the game.

Tigers Trying

The Tigers really wanted this one, and they were in there trying, but a couple of fatal errors spelled defeat. On top of the breaks, that have been against them for a long while, the Tigers ran against some more lurid officiating, the kind that has been prevalent in many of their games this year. Many spectators said that all Whitley Davis needed was a saddle and Card, Negro guard for Washington C. H., would have had a much more enjoyable time. Card was on Davis' back during the entire game, but only three fouls were chalked on him. Davis was not the only Tiger to be roughed every time he touched the ball, the Fayette youths proving adept at roughing and getting away with it.

The Washington boys took a short lead at the period, being on top 4-3, but the Tigers started to click in the second session and were going away 10-8 at half-time. The third period found the Red and Black with a three point edge, 15-12, but the last session ended with the locals on the short end.

Shoemaker High

The difference in the two teams is found in the scoring of the two centers. Paul Walters, usually reliable baton man, was held without a single point. He didn't even get to try for a foul shot. Shoemaker, Blue Lion pivot, counted 13 of his team's points on six goals and a free toss.

The Tiger reserves had an easy time turning back the Washington C. H. scrubs in a 26 to 8 game. Callahan and Staley counted 12 of the winner's points.

Circleville travels to Bexley next Friday to meet Carlton Smith's strong Central Buckeye league quint, and closes its regular season on the following Tuesday when Greenfield invades the Circleville Athletic Club gymnasium. The game is moved up because of the county tournament.

The Tigers need victories over Bexley and Greenfield to finish the season on the long end of the record, the standing now being seven victories and eight defeats.

Conn Bests Apostoli Again

Pittsburgher Looked On As Title Hope By 1941

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The fighter who in two years may lift Joe Louis' world heavyweight championship was definitely established today in the person of young Billy Conn of Pittsburgh who last night shattered precedent by scoring his second victory over Fred Apostoli, the rough and tough San Franciscan.

An 8 to 5 underdog in the wagering despite the fact that he beat Apostoli only a few weeks ago, Conn finally clinched his place last night, as the fighter who will bring the Irish back to the pugilistic heights. No man before ever beat Apostoli twice in a row, and to accomplish this quite laudable end Conn had to be good. As a matter of fact, he was very good, to the elation of a capacity crowd of 18,988.

In the Madison Square Garden lobby after the 15 rounds of boxing, the old-timers gathered to nod their heads and agreed that finally the Irish had found a bellwether.

Two Years Hence

"Conn is the poetry of motion and looks the part of a great heavyweight two years hence," said Jimmy Brownson, who handled Gene Tunney.

"He's the nearest thing to a great boxer that we've seen in years among the big fellows and I picked him to win this fight," said Dumb Dan Morgan who used to manage Jack Britton and Battling Levinsky.

"All he needs is polish and some weight," said Harry Lenny who managed some of the best big men including Jack Delaney.

Only a few weeks ago Conn outpointed Apostoli in 10 rounds and we decided that Apostoli simply was off feed, or something. But last night there was no doubt left as to who was the better fighter, and the experts took an awful drubbing along with the game, tough and willing coat battler who is the world middleweight champion, according to the New York Boxing Commission. No title was at stake because both were over the weight. Apostoli weighed 161 and Conn 167.

Apostoli, therefore, is still the best middleweight in the world, but above that weight the master—up to Joe Louis—quite obviously is young Conn, a spindly-shanked, deadly serious young Irishman with a left hand that makes the old-timers who knew the best of these weapons fairly chuckle. It darts and flicks and pokes with beautiful precision.

The fight was rough and tough and vicious. As early as the second round Conn's right eye began to bleed. In the seventh he was bleeding from both eyes, while Apostoli remained unmarked, but that was no true line on the trend of the battle. The fact of the matter is and was that Conn was carving out for himself a decision with some of the most superb boxing and sharpest—though not particularly potent—punching we've seen around here in a long time.

Apostoli lost the seventh round on a low punch and won the 11th and 13th for the same reason, with the brawling all along the line two-fisted and quite enthusiastic.

There were no knockdowns, although in the sixth Conn twice slipped in his own corner because in sponging him off his handlers carelessly soaked the canvas.

Conn Wins Late

Going into the 14th round, the fight was just about even, but here Conn asserted himself and out-punched, out-boxed and out-footed Apostoli through the last two rounds clearly to win the decision.

Walnut Lassies Impressive In Turning Back Monroe Sextet

The annual Pickaway county basketball league schedule came to a close Friday evening in a blaze of enthusiasm and thrilling play on five courts. The sixth event, scheduled between Saltcreek and Darby on the latter's court was forfeited by Saltcreek because of the school's influenza epidemic. Only one of the Saltcreek varsity members is not ill.

The conclusion of the league race saw Ashville boys and Darby girls dominating play, neither being defeated in loop competition. The Ashville boys will retain permanent possession of The Daily Herald's league trophy, while the Darby girls will have the girl's cup for the next year.

sured it the second position in the girls' race.

New Holland continued its fast pace by taking a crippled Williamsport team into camp. Neither of the reliable Carter boys, Williamsport's threats, was able to play. Don Rittenour, New Holland coach, used his varsity for only half the game, saving his starters for a game with Jeffersonville Saturday night.

Ashville held Atlanta scoreless in the first half of the game played on the Atlanta court while tallying nine points on its own accord, and then went on to win handily 19 to 6. The small playing space kept Ashville's high geared offensive at low speed, but the tall Ashville lads were too strong on defense for the Perry township lads, who scored only two field shots.

Monroe township surprised Walnut varsity to win a fast and rough game. Grover was the big gun for the winners.

Washington's diversified attack was too much for Jackson, the game being played at Fox. Matz and Elliott split 22 points for the winners, while Casey Kennedy knocked off honors for the losers.

Friday's games completed a schedule that started on November 11. The annual tournament will open next Friday evening, Feb. 17, in the C. A. C. gym to continue on Feb. 18, 23, 24 and 25.

During the season all 13 schools were represented by boy's teams. Only 11 girls teams were counted in the standing, Saltcreek being without a sextet and Muhlenberg's starting into action a couple of weeks after the season opened.

Both teams turned in brilliant final games.

Peter Heals a Lame Man

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Acts 3:1 to 4:22

The people gather around Peter and John, greatly wondering at the miracle; and Peter tells them faith in Jesus has done it.

But the priests and captain of the temple detain them until the next day, but can find nothing wrong, so let them go.

They are told, however, that they must not mention the name of Christ, but they go on preaching.

(GOLDEN TEXT—Acts 3:6)

"Then Peter said, 'Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee.'"—Acts 3:6.

FRONTIERS

THERE is no doubt, anyway, where Great Britain's frontier is. It is on the Rhine, just where an outspoken English statesman said it was a couple of years ago, although nobody would believe him at the time.

The British government at last is facing realities and talking frankly. Prime Minister Chamberlain the other day told the House of Commons, right out in meeting, that any threat to "the vital interests of France" would find Britain solidly behind her. And the whole House cheered the statement. He added, in corroboration of a statement by French Foreign Minister Bonnet, that in case of war "all the forces of each country" would be at the disposal of the other.

It is now in order for Adolf Hitler to say where the German frontier is. That border at present seems very elastic and shadowy.

As for Italy's frontier, it is now in Spain and seems likely to spread pretty well over the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

And the American frontier? There is some talk now about it also being on the Rhine, or at least on the Maginot Line. Perhaps it is there in spirit.

But practically, just now, it seems to be on the "barrelhead" where France or Britain or any other imperiled democracy plunks down money for munitions. It is a "cash-and-carry" frontier, curiously combining idealism and practicality.

NO LEGION VIGILANTES

WILLIAM G. MCKINLEY, of Jersey City, a national executive committeeman of the American Legion, has taken a positive stand against using the Legion as a vigilante group "for the purpose of suppressing unwelcome visitors to Jersey City."

It has been reported that another Legion officer threatened to give certain people "a lesson in democracy" by tossing them out of Jersey City whenever they tried to speak there.

Lessons in democracy, it should be pointed out, all follow a different school of thought. They teach the folly of suppressing free speech and the wisdom of upholding it. They teach that persecution for political, religious or racial reasons is contrary to the Bill of Rights, contrary to the Golden Rule, and as great a threat to democracy as any of its recognized enemies present.

Prof. Einstein thinks scientists should go into politics. Quite right! A few Einsteins might straighten out the present political situation.

A business writer says that industries which "look at orders instead of Washington and Europe" are inclined to be optimistic.

For this time he promised a severe cold wave, and along came rain, followed by Spring-like temperatures. Well, I for one am glad that the weatherman was dunced by nature. Drank my morning coffee leisurely and waited for the morning paper that did not arrive. Away then to the post and enroute noted five big trailer transports bearing new autos. Still some folk think this is not such a fine land, this land where the common people buy more automobiles by accident than the rich of other lands buy on purpose.

Even our W. P. A. workers go to their jobs by auto here and there. The relief clients travel to distribution quarters by taxi. Wonder what the European laborer would think of that. He gets up in the early morning, eats a bowl of gruel, generally without milk or sugar, and then heads for work. In one pocket is a bottle of home-made wine that tastes something like diluted vinegar. In his pocket is a hunk of bread. That is his lunch, all of it. He comes home to stew in the evening, stew that only infrequently contains meat of any sort. Then all evening he sits shivering before a fog in his fireplace. I have seen those fireplaces and never yet have I seen one that was even warm. No radios in those homes, no magazines, no newspapers. One just sits around and ponders, if one has anything with which to ponder. Then to bed and soon another day. Maybe that is where the reformers should perform.

DIET AND HEALTH

Vitamin D Needed in Children's Diet

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

RICKETS, that nutritional disease of childhood which we discussed yesterday, is most prevalent in the spring months. The incidence rises to its peak in March and sinks to the lowest level in September. Obviously, this is related to sunlight. It appears after the long period of winter darkness.

Rickets is directly dependent on the lack of Vitamin D in the body. But Vitamin D is formed in the body by the action of sunlight on the skin, and stored in the liver. Feeding Vitamin D by mouth in the form of fish liver oils—fish store it in the body more abundantly than any other animals—will supply enough to prevent rickets, but feeding Vitamin D should always be supplemented by sunshine exposure.

Enough Exposure

Therefore, in these days of returning sunlight be sure your baby is getting enough exposure to prevent the development of rickets. And notice carefully how much sun the baby really does get. The baby is in the sunlight in the baby-carriage—all very well. First, the mother may discover that the baby is blinking, so she promptly shields its eyes and much of its face from the sun. Second, since the baby's body is covered, the child will be getting only reflected light or skyshine, which is only 50 per cent as effective as direct sunlight to prevent rickets. Third, the time of day will also affect the amount of sunshine or skyshine reaching the baby's face. At 8:30 A. M., regardless of the season, the average loss of sunlight is over 30 per cent and at 3:30 P. M. it is over 21 per cent.

These reasons are enough to convince one that sunlight exposure should be supplemented by feeding Vitamin D in the form of fish oils. The real function of Vitamin D in the body is to aid in the deposit of calcium. It is the lack of calcium deposit in the bones which causes them to be soft, and this is the reason for the deformities of rickets.

Close Relationship

The relationship between the amount of rickets and the lack of sunshine in any population is remarkably close. For instance, rickets is far commoner in negro children than in white because the sunlight does not get a chance to penetrate through the darker skin. Even in countries where there is a great deal of sunshine, such as Algeria, rickets is prevalent because certain religious customs keep women and children indoors, away from sunlight. Purdah, for instance, is a religious custom in India, as in Africa, which keeps women indoors in the early stages after childbirth, and hence rickets is present in three out of every four children in these communities.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Another disease of infancy, called "tetany," in which there are spasms in the muscles, has been greatly improved and brilliant results have been obtained by exposing the patient to light.

The expectant mother, and the mother during the period when she is nursing the baby, require an extra amount of calcium in their bodies because of the drain of calcium in the milk and to form the baby's bones. It has been found that when mothers received ultra-violet light exposures the calcium content of the blood remained normal or showed an actual increase.

Answer—Usually increase in weight, perhaps due to lack of thyroid secretion, perhaps due to infection. Sometimes, but very rarely, kidney trouble.

Dr. Clendening can now be obtained in 10-cent envelopes with a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 100 W. 12th Street, New York. The pamphlets are "The Way to a Healthy Life," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions in the Treatment of Diabetes," "Gynecine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

King and Queen for Spain?

DON JUAN, third son of former King Alfonso of Spain, may become King of Spain under Generalissimo Francisco Franco, according to Ogden H. Hammond, former U. S. ambassador to Spain. Don Juan married the former Princess Maria Mercedes of Bourbon and the two Sicilies in 1935.

their aunt, Mrs. Woodside, who was a missionary in Africa for 51 years.

Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey read stories of Lucy Laney and her 50 years of work among her own people of the South. She has been for the most of this time, principal of the Haines School of Augusta, Ga., so named for Mrs. E. E. Haines of Detroit, Mich. who gave the money for building the first brick building of the school.

Mrs. Crites reviewed the chapter of the study book on India. The members of the group passed the morning sewing garments which will be given to Miss Margaret Hunsicker, county health nurse, for distribution.

There was a good attendance at the luncheon served at noon by members of the Ladies' Aid society, with Mrs. Will Mack in charge.

Presby-Weds Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Crites of S. Pickaway street, assisted by the Rev. and Mrs. Robert T. Kelsey, and Miss Virginia Marion, entertained the Presby-Weds at their home Friday. About 20 members and guests enjoyed the delightful evening.

Games of Chinese checkers followed an interesting quiz.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Phi Beta Psi

Ten members of Phi Beta Psi sorority gathered at the home of Mrs. Willis Liston, E. Main street, Friday, and completed plans for the Founders' Day party. Miss Pauline Hill, president, led the session. The party will be Wednesday Feb. 15 at the home of Miss Helen Liston, Columbus Pike.

JR. CLASS PLAY TO BE OFFERED MARCH 9 AND 10

Director Samuel Johnson announced Thursday the names of those who will take part in the junior class play, "Life Begins at Sixteen," by Hilda Manning, to be presented in the high school auditorium Thursday and Friday evenings, March 9 and 10.

"Several parts have not yet been definitely assigned because of the illness of some who are trying out. In order to give them an equal chance, we have held back on assignments," Mr. Johnson added to his announcement.

Howard Orr has been cast as Paul Hollis, sixteen, imaginative and idealistic.

Hilda, a Swedish hired girl of twenty-one, will be portrayed by Bernice Strawser. This character has a heavy, Swedish accent in her speeches.

Regina Thornton has been given the part of Mrs. Jessie Hollis, a modern mother in her early forties, who takes active interest in her children's lives and tries "to understand them."

Marjorie Hollis, a girl of nineteen, slender and charming, has a good deal of her brother Paul's qualities. She is bright, intelligent, and attractive. Marily Lutz will appear as Marjorie.

Robert Brehmer's role is that of George Gordon, aged twenty-one who suffers the pangs of an untold love—for Marjorie.

Theo Arbuckle, sixteen-year-old character, is a gangling boy with freckles, the chronic dissenter of the "Secret Seven." Clarence Thorne is to handle this role.

Mary Jane Bowers will play Pidge Miller; Thelma Winner, Daise Jenkins; and Pat Bennett, Boots Bennett. These three young ladies add greatly to the general confusion.

Mr. Johnson has assigned three boys to study the part of Mr. Harry Hollis. His final selection will be announced next week. Studying the role are Jack Clifton, David Hilyard, and Gale Hitchcock.

Pat Bennett and Mary Flickard are vieing for the part of Frannie Hollis, a twin sister of Paul. Frannie, although much like Paul, is not so greatly concerned with the ethereal. She is bright, very pretty, and her mother's special pet.

In competition for the role of Crandall Smythe are William Lutz and Melvin Thompson. Smythe, a young man of visible means, is of the "Tall, dark and handsome" variety.

Fatty Zimmer, sixteen and just what his nickname implies, is being rehearsed by both David Eagelson and Tom Harden.

Mr. Johnson has three girls—Marlene Armstrong, Mary Flickard, and Jeanne Kinney—under consideration for the character Snookie, youngest of the Hollis tribe (nine years old to be exact). Granted a great deal of freedom by her mother, Snookie makes the most of it.

Both Betty Lanman and Jane Paul are listed for the part of Elsie a plain, simple young woman who works in a bank.

Names of business and technical staff members will be posted Monday. These persons will go into immediate action on publicity and properties. Posters are to be up and the tickets ready to go on sale by the end of next week.

PAIRINGS MADE FOR ANNUAL COUNTY TOURNAMENT OPENING NEXT FRIDAY

MONROE PLAYS WASHINGTON IN FIRST CONTEST

Ties Decided Saturday At Meeting Of Officials; Girls Matched

Team placements for the county basketball tournament were established Saturday.

Pairings were made on point standings with ties being settled at a meeting of school officials in the county school office. Officials of schools tied in standings attended the meeting.

In the first game of the tournament on Feb. 17, at 7 p. m., Washington will play Monroe. Winner of this game will meet Ashville on Feb. 23 at 7 p. m. In the second game on Feb. 17 at 9 p. m., New Holland will play Walnut. The third game at 10 p. m. will bring together Muhlenberg and Jackson. Winners of these games will play on Feb. 23 at 8 p. m.

Darby and Williamsport will play in the first contest on Feb. 18 at 7 p. m., the winner taking on Pickaway on Feb. 23 at 9 p. m. Perry and Saltcreek will play on Feb. 18 at 9 p. m. with the winner playing Scioto on Feb. 23 at 10 p. m.

Winners of the contests on Feb. 23 will meet on Feb. 24. Finals will be held Feb. 25 at 9 p. m.

Darby and Scioto girls will play the first game of the girls' tournament on Feb. 17 at 8 p. m. Walnut and Pickaway will meet in the second game on Feb. 18 at 8 p. m. Winners of the games will play Feb. 25 at 8 p. m.

Pickaway and Scioto drew Saturday for positions after school officials determined that a tie existed. Scioto has won seven games and lost three. Pickaway has won six, lost two and tied two. Since rules provide that ties count half points, the school representatives decided to add an extra won game and extra lost game to Pickaway, making the tie.

It was decided a tie in girls' contests will be settled by a three minute overtime period. A coin will be tossed to determine the toss in. In case the game still remains tied a jump center "sudden death" three-minute overtime will be played. The first team to make two points, either fouls or by a goal will win. A five minute rest will be granted between the game and overtime or between the first and second overtime. It was agreed that four time outs would be allowed during games. Rules regarding a player reentering a game only once will be followed in the girls' contests.

ITALY'S CROWN PRINCE KNEELS FIVE MINUTES

Conclave For Election Of New Holy Father To Begin Feb. 25 Or 28

In any event, it was certain that the conclave for choice of a new pope would permit ample time for the arrival of Cardinals Dougherty of Philadelphia and Mundelein of Chicago.

After the election of Pius, when Cardinal O'Connell of Boston arrived in Rome too late for the balloting and protested to the new pope, Pius ordained that henceforth at least 15 days must elapse between the death of one pope and convocation of the gathering to select his successor.

The visit of Crown Prince Humbert, representing the Italian royal family, occurred on the anniversary of the signing of the Lateran pact on Feb. 11, 1929. Thus the homage paid by the heir to the Italian throne symbolized the rapprochement between the Holy See and Italy, one of the Pope Pius' greatest accomplishments.

Humbert, in full military uniform, knelt for five minutes in prayer before the catafalque.

Before the cardinals met, Humbert was received by Cardinal Pacelli and three other princes of the church.

Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, is now the acting head of the Roman Catholic church by virtue of his office of Cardinal Chamberlain, but during the interregnum no new decisions of policy may be taken.

For the second successive day Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, paid homage before the Pope's body as representative of the Italian government.

200 Bishops Present
Called to Rome for a more happy occasion, two hundred bishops here to celebrate the anniversary of the Vatican-Italian conciliation came together to the Sistine chapel and in an impressive scene recited prayers for the dead.

Even in death, however, the "Pope of Peace" may yet make known his final views on relations between the church and the totalitarian ideologies—especially on the controversy between the Vatican and Italian government regarding Catholic action groups, which were especially dear to Pius.

"We will do it! We will," the Pope was reported to have uttered repeatedly as he lay on his sick bed, referring to the speech he intended to deliver. To Cardinal Pacelli, it was understood, Pius gave the only copy of his intended speech.

Pacelli, it was expected, would disclose the nature of the text to other members of the Cardinals' congregation today, and the Cardinals will determine whether it is advisable to make the contents of the document known to the public.

Special importance is given to the manuscript because the Pope stayed awake all last Saturday night to write it, and that effort, it was said, was a contributing cause to his last illness. Not even his closest advisers saw it, but after he rallied from his heart attack Thursday, the Pope entrusted the precious manuscript to Cardinal Pacelli.

Pope Pius, a look of serenity on his pallid face, lay most of yesterday and today on the red-covered bier in the center of the Sistine chapel.

Twelve huge candles supplied the only light in the room, their flickering rays seeming to bring into life the great figures of Michaelangelo's magnificent "Last Judgment" in the background.

Four noble guards in gleaming breastplates and plumed helmets stood about the bier with bowed heads, their hands resting on the hilts of their swords. When the papal master of the chamber locked the chapel door overnight, eight noble guards took up the vigil in relays.

The Pope's body was clad in the white robes that he usually wore when alive. A red mantle and hood covered his head and shoulders. On his hands were white gloves and on his feet white socks and red slippers.

government today demanded an explanation from Franco of charges that he broke a promise not to attack the Balearic island of Minorca while negotiations for its surrender were in progress.

The island, it was asserted, was bombed Wednesday while the British cruiser Devonshire was at Port Mahon on a peace mission. Franco was asked to say to whom the raiding planes belonged and under whose orders the pilots acted. The captain of the Devonshire also was ordered to make a full report to London.

Even in death, however, the "Pope of Peace" may yet make known his final views on relations between the church and the totalitarian ideologies—especially on the controversy between the Vatican and Italian government regarding Catholic action groups, which were especially dear to Pius.

Members of the committee said they had not yet devised a list of witnesses for today's hearings. They said, however, that representatives of farm areas would be given full opportunity to be heard.

PAIRINGS MADE FOR ANNUAL COUNTY TOURNAMENT OPENING NEXT FRIDAY

MONROE PLAYS
WASHINGTON IN
FIRST CONTESTTies Decided Saturday At Meeting Of Officials;
Girls Matched

Team placements for the county basketball tournament were established Saturday.

Pairings were made on point standings with ties being settled at a meeting of school officials in the county school office. Officials of schools tied in standings attended the meeting.

In the first game of the tournament on Feb. 17, at 7 p. m., Washington will play Monroe. Winner of this game will meet Ashville on Feb. 23 at 7 p. m. In the second game on Feb. 17 at 9 p. m., New Holland will play Walnut. The third game at 10 p. m. will bring together Muhlenberg and Jackson. Winners of these games will play on Feb. 23 at 8 p. m.

Darby and Williamsport will play in the first contest on Feb. 18 at 7 p. m., the winner taking on Pickaway on Feb. 23 at 9 p. m. Perry and Saltcreek will play on Feb. 18 at 9 p. m. with the winner playing Scioto on Feb. 23 at 8 p. m.

Winners of the contests on Feb. 23 will meet on Feb. 24. Finals will be held Feb. 25 at 9 p. m.

Darby and Scioto girls will play the first game of the girls' tournament on Feb. 17 at 8 p. m. Walnut and Pickaway will meet in the second game on Feb. 18 at 8 p. m. Winners of the games will play Feb. 23 at 8 p. m.

Pickaway and Scioto drew Saturday for positions after school officials determined that a tie existed. Scioto has won seven games and lost three. Pickaway has won six, lost two and tied two. Since rules provide that ties count half points, the school representatives decided to add an extra win game and extra lost game to Pickaway, making the tie.

It was decided a tie in girls' contests will be settled by a three minute overtime period. A coin will be tossed to determine the toss in. In case the game still remains tied a jump center "sudden death" three-minute overtime will be played. The first team to make two points, either fouls or by a goal will win. A five minute rest will be granted between the game and overtime or between the first and second overtime. It was agreed that four time outs would be allowed during games. Rules regarding a player reentering a game only once will be followed in the girls' contests.
